I rec'd your letter by Miss K this morning <sup>28th and was very sorry to hear of the disaster to the Bundee. I fell to work rushing my brains for the contents of the letter which was written by Emma <sup>go 30</sup> myself in alternate paragraphs. I can remember very little of what was in it - but nothing very treason-able as near as I can remember. An account of my attempts to extract an invitation for Lucy from Mrs S. was the worst thing I can think of, ~~in~~ in which I failed too tell L - after stating in the peevish manner that L could not come on account of J.L. & how she would like it to be they may write to ask her. Sarah wants L to write to her very much. The content of the bundle were 1st a set of needles & one of A. Opie's little books 3 beautiful printed ribs for Lucy - lovely ones - my N.B. pocket-book, 4th also! the spectacles - It almost killed us trying to recall all this, but we succeeded at last. I can think of nothing more. Caroline's nice linen night-cap, which I meant to have sent as a pattern, was saved by my forgetting to put it in - The anti-slavery China, Mrs Opie's books & A.M.'s little box has arrived. The china very pretty - I long to be going to</sup> house keeping to have it. I hope my letter won't fall into the hands of N.C. for there was (it comes to my mind as I write) a detailed account of the distresses of the Standard. Faint hearts think beneath its folds

In anguish & despair —

Roger's not going immediately there has tried them very much — N.C. can't crow seems to be their difficulty — There is a plan too to send Collins to England to get money, which was to be kept a profound secret. If N.C. get hold of my letter that plan will be divulged Mains has written a detailed account of cheering letter to Garrison & Gibbons; & to Rogers & his wife — urging his going to N.Y. Henry seems better & is better. He has had a hard plan these last two mornings by ~~xxxxxxxxxx~~ ~~xxxxxxxxxx~~, just after ~~the~~ ~~the~~
This, trifling as it is, discourages him — Dr Gay laughs at him about it. This morning when Dr Gay came he reported the Britannia in & he was told there was a flaming Abolitionist on board, but he could not think of the name. Johnson coll'd with lever saying that Broderup was the man, who stops a few day's in Boston before leaving for Narragansett we had long letters from Wm. C. very satisfactory dated Spa, where they had been 3 days.
He regrets much that you were not there

To chronicle the bad bits of the convention — & says entre nous There was need of an acting back bone among the women, or words to that effect. A poetical article from Montgomery came a few days since — Broadbent brought one from E Pease & Wendell sent one — James C Alwood — very good I should think — for I have only looked at it — for by the way the letters have just — arrived. Wendells letter is a very interesting one but, has no very striking points. I will get Mary to send it to you, Maria had a short one too from him. Abby Southwick says in her letter Wendell is very thin, says traveling does not agree with him — In speaking of E Pease, Wendell says pardon me spirit of west-81 & goes on to put her before Thompson in glossen — But Wendell says that Parsons speech reported in the Lib — (at the State House) was better than Thompsons!!! but then says he "I have only heard it in England" — Wendell has written a ~~sympathising~~ letter to Collins. very proper & pretty of him but not much needed — I hope this letter won't get lost. E Pease has sent 10 little tiny cards, with Daniel O'Connell's auto-graph in the centre, & little sentences like this — "made his first speech so & so." "Entered at the Bar so & so" a day or two since some "foreign reporters" came They say that in Nottingham an anti slavery meeting was held at which only those of good repute in our cause were invited to attend on account of the Chartists — I see by one of the new papers, or rather I hear Maria reading while I am writing that the Chartist brought up resolutions at a Glasgow meeting, really bringing in foreign wishes, such as English factories do this at a meeting of the Glasgow Emem Soc.

They were passed & at the close of the Thompson said that these resolutions were not passed by the G. E. S. but by those who came in — awful times says wife One more thing from the last letter Caroline has a very full school 32 county summer & living — It will be a fine thing for living having Emma — she <sup>L</sup> is thought to have improved wonderfully in looks & actions — Ann Avery sent her love to little Mary — Mary has returned to Boston in a consumption they say. Phelps has treated them awfully — Fuller under bid them in the article of boozers & Phelps left the Bi at a moments warning — at Chillicothe called yesterday morning — said her mother had rec'd a letter from Sarah & Angelina. Angelina said that Mary Parker had been with them some <sup>time</sup> came there when she was first taken sick, then went on to pleasure themselves as the best of mortal — how well it was that they had kept their minds free from all improper feelings, because N. S. could not have come freely to them if they had ever taken sides — <sup>this</sup> was the idea at least — Sarah went a peg higher — spoke of the delightful intercourse they had had with dear Christian disciple Mr. Parker — They both declared they had consciences void of offense towards God & man — Anna scoffed with much propriety at them — Lucretia wott was to speak the paper staled at the Methodist Chapel Sunday evening. Thompson noticed at the Wadsworth meeting. The Sols & other quakers came out with a notice <sup>that</sup> they were not in fellowship with her for slavery — I have written in the greatest haste getting in every thing I could think of, which I shoule not have had time to have done, had I paid any attention to style or writing — with much love to all at Grandma's & at home ever yours D.W.

Mary Parker is decidedly in a consumption it is said —

I have not time to read over what I have written - We hope Rogers will go to N.Y. but it is all uncertain - I hope the bundle will be found.
